PERS Features

TWO-WAY “TALKING” TRANSMITTER – help is right there with you, as the two-way “talking” transmitter allows you to speak to the response center as well as listen to them. Just push the blue button to place the “call” for assistance. You can interchange the transmitter to wear as a pendant around your neck, as a belt clip or on your wrist like a watch. The transmitter is water resistant so you can wear it at all times – even in the shower. Additional pendants available to purchase if wanted for your spouse, etc.

BASE UNIT – this small, sleek looking unit features easy setup and installation.* Simply plug the base unit to your phone jack and a nearby electrical outlet. Rechargeable back-up batteries included for added security during a power outage. The base unit also recharges the transmitter batteries when needed. (*WRT can install the unit for optional $75 fee – within WRT’s service area only.)

TESTING – press and hold the blue button on the two-way “talking” transmitter. You will hear a series of alarms as the call is placed. You can cancel the test call by pushing & holding the small gray button on the back side or wait until the response center answers. Once you have contacted the response center, test the range of the transmitter from different locations in your home as well as your garage, yard, etc. Range may vary due to location, home construction, etc. Test the transmitter weekly or more often if you wish for added comfort level, safety and peace of mind. It also has back-up battery for approximately 24 hours in case of a power outage, as well as low-battery indicators.

ASSISTANCE – customize your responders list to meet your needs. When you sign up for WRT’s PERS service you will be asked to provide a contact list of responders (friends, family, neighbors, etc.). If you are in need of assistance, simply push & hold the blue button on your transmitter for the response center. You can instruct them to call someone on your contact list (friend, neighbor, etc.) or dispatch emergency services.

FRIENDLY – the best part of WRT’s PERS service is the friendly answering staff with over 20 years of experience. Never hesitate pushing the button as they are always available to answer your call and will contact your family, friends, and neighbors... or if needed, contact rescue personnel. You can even contact the response center & coordinate taking your unit with you to use when staying with family for a few weeks, wintering down south, etc.
